STARVING HOSTS IN SEARCH OF FOOD SWEEPING RUSSIA

ARE STRIPPING THE LAND LIKE
LOCUSTS, SAYS NEWSPAPER
REPORTS

OVER SIX MILLION PERSONS ARE IN DIRE DISTRESS IN THREE PROVINCES

(By United Press)

London, July 28—Demonstrations beyond control of the military and civil authorities are raging in Russia as a result of the famine, according to Russian newspapers received here today.

Starving refugees, sweeping across the country by thousands toward Moscow, are stripping the land like locusts. Cities have been looted and all animals are seized and killed for food.

Soldiers, who have become discontented, have joined in the demonstrations in Petrograd and Moscow, the report said.

Petrograd was the scene of extensive riots on July 19 and 20 in which one hundred unarmed were reported to have been killed and fifteen hundred wounded. Women have joined in the demonstrations and many of them have been killed by firing squads it was reported. The city of Tomhoff was practically devastated July 20, according to the newspaper Lestia. Soviet authorities were sent out to check the starving invaders from the Volga region.

The refugees, tottering as they came, marched doggedly on in the face of bayonets and sharp commands of soldiers. The troops did not have the heart to fire on them, and they staggered into the city. Cavalry horses were sacrificed for food, the city being unable to give food to the refugees otherwise. The fire department was the next to be deprived of its animals. Finally private carriage horses were shot.

Over 6,500,000 men, women and children are, overflowing the provinces of Tomhoff, Fenza and Varenese, according to newspaper figures. Riots similar to those in the city of Tomhoff were said to have occurred in numerous smaller places.

Peruvian Independence Celebrated in London

(United Press)

London, July 28—Celebrating the centenary of Peruvian Independence a reception was held today at the Peruvian Legation attended by a large number of men and women prominent in London's official and social life.

As part of the day's observances a solemn ceremony took place at Westminster Abbey when Don Ricardo Rivera Schreiber, Charge d'Affairs of the Peruvian Legation, placed a wreath on the tomb of Admiral Lord Cochrane, who commanded the Peruvian fleet in the war for independence against Spain, thereby rendering invaluable assistance to the Peruvians in their struggle for liberty.

Attached to the wreath was a list of British military and naval officers who assisted in the Peruvian war of independence.

Buffalo Banks Heavily Armed

(By United Press)

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28—Due to the number of increasing bank robberies throughout the United States, Buffalo banking institutions have installed many safety devices to insure against robbery.

Sharpshooters armed with automatic rifles, barricaded in an armor plate cage above the corridor of the Federal Reserve Bank, are on guard to frustrate possible attacks by armed bandits.

The "pill box" contains seven loop holes and looks like a world war fortification. Any point in the bank is a target for the man in the cage.

Additional night guards have been placed in banks and they are now armed with sawed-off shot guns.

Besides visible means of warding off attacks the banks have installed secret appliances that would bring police instantly to the bank where an attack was made and other appliances that would trap the robbers.

T. V. O'CONNOR

T. V. O'Connor of Buffalo, N. Y., is the new vice chairman of the United States shipping board. Mr. O'Connor, who is a former president of the International Longshoremen's union, will have charge of the labor affairs of the board.

DOWNEY WINS MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

KNOCKED OUT FORMER CHAMP
JOHNNY WILSON, IN THE
SEVENTH ROUND

(By United Press)

Cleveland, Ohio, July 28—Bryan Downey, of Cleveland, won the middleweight championship of the world from Johnny Wilson, of Boston, by a knockout in the seventh round of a scheduled twelve round no decision fight here last night.

The Cleveland boxing commission overruling the verdict of Jim Gardner of Louisville, who refereed the fight and who awarded it to Wilson on a foul, declared Downey the champion. The commission maintains that Downey had knocked out Wilson the first time he knocked him down, and that only the slow counting of Gardner saved the champion.

The commission said that disregarding the question of the first count in the first knockout, Downey technically won the fight a second time when Martie Killilea assisted the champion to his feet after Downey had knocked him down a second time.

At Gardner's slow count of ten, the first time the champion staggered helplessly to his feet, Gardner motioned to the amazed Downey to go on with the fight. The timekeeper's watch showed that Wilson was down 13 3-5 seconds. Downey plowed into his helpless victim right and left, hitting him under the jaw, and he went down a second time. This time Killilea jumped on the edge of the ring where the struggling champion had fallen, and assisted him to rise. Gardner evidently did not see this, or he paid no attention to it. All sportswriters in Cleveland today proclaimed Downey the champion.

MISS MAUDE ROYDEN

Miss Maude Royden, leader of a movement to induce the Church of England to admit women preachers to its pulpits, has been permitted to conduct a week-day service in St. Paul's and St. Botolph's churches, despite the protest made by Rt. Rev. Arthur W. Ingram, bishop of London.

GOVERNOR SMALL DROPS FROM SIGHT

NEWSPAPER MEN LOSE TRACK OF HIM—NOT AT HOME OR AT CAPITOL

(By United Press)

Chicago, July 28—Where is Len Small?

The indicted Illinois governor who stands charged with embezzling huge sums of money from the state has dropped from sight today.

After spending Wednesday in Chicago in consultation with friends and political advisors, the governor was supposed to have left for home at Kankakee last night.

The train Small is supposed to have taken on arriving at Kankakee was met by his wife and other members of the family. The governor did not appear. Mrs. Small appeared greatly worried, and was meeting every train but the governor has failed to show up.

Mrs. Small said the governor was not in Kankakee, and said she did not know where he was.

Friends and advisors of the governor here said he had gone either to Kankakee or Springfield. The executive had not arrived at the state capitol.

All Chicago newspapers who had squads of men trailing the governor while he was here, admitted they lost track of the executive following the conclusion of his conference at the Congress hotel yesterday.

Governor Located

Chicago, July 28—Governor Len Small remained in refuge here today.

After two hours of hide and seek with newspaper men the indicted governor of Illinois was located this afternoon in conference here with his attorneys and political allies.

The governor had dropped from sight last night and it was supposed he had either gone to his home in Kankakee or had flown to some secluded and secret spot for a rest from his worries.

What the governor's next move will be is his effort to have his arrest or alleged embezzlement of state funds take place outside of Springfield and Sangamon county where unknown.

No statement was forthcoming either from Small or his chief counsel, Albert Fink.

Word from Springfield was that States Attorney Mortimer and Sheriff Henry Mester were standing pat on their statement that they will wait for the governor to come to that city before they will arrest him.

Small had hoped to submit to arrest in Chicago hoping to have his case heard in a "friendly" court.

CAPPER DEMANDS PITILESS PUBLICITY

(By United Press)

Washington, July 28—The disarmament conference should be public and the American people will demand that it be public.

That's the gauge of battle Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, today laid down to the "quiet" effort to keep closed the forthcoming parleys of the powers in Washington.

"The men on the farm and in factories and in the shops are the ones who feel the burden of armament," Capper said in an interview with the United Press.

"In peace they must pay in taxes. In war they pay in blood, and since they pay they will demand to know every step their representatives take to lift this burden.

"Secrecy is un-American. The public will not tolerate it."

Two Billion Credit To Be Extended to the Farmers by New Bill

(By United Press)

Washington, July 28—Two billion dollars credit for farmers instead of one billion as provided in the administration farm relief bill would be extended under a substitute orked out today by the senate agricultural committee. The substitute, which was favorably reported when the senate met, was a combine of the Kellogg or administration bill and the Norris bill.

Captured St. Paul Bandit Identified as Notorious Crook

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 28—The man who staged a thrilling fight with Great Northern trainmen here Tuesday was identified by police today as Tommy O'Connor, 30, wanted for murder in Chicago. O'Connor, according to Chief of Detectives Vall, is the man called P. J. O'Neill, Chicago policeman, to the door of his home last March and shot him. He tried to hold up a Great Northern train in the yards here while under the influence of liquor.

A man tabbed for drunkenness last night, was identified today as John Gallagher, 37, also wanted by Chicago police for murder. Gallagher is alleged to have shot a Chicago man named Richard Rouillard and wounded a patrolman, Fred Bunker, and attempted to hold up the Dressel State Bank on Roosevelt road in June, 1920.

St. Paul Salesman Is Robbed and Beaten

(By United Press)

Tracy, Minn., July 28—Z. E. Michel, 29, St. Paul salesman, was robbed and beaten into unconsciousness ten miles south of here early today. He lost $185 and a Ford car, he said. Michel was formerly a St. Paul newspaper man.

ST. PAUL WILL AT- TACK CONSTITUTION- ALITY ST. R. R. LAW

GIVING STATE RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COM. POWER TO FIX RATES

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 28—St. Paul city officials will go into the court and attack the constitutionality of the law giving the state railroad and warehouse commission power to fix street car fares, it developed today at a hearing of the company officials on application of a seven cent fare.

A. R. Nelson, city attorney, objected to the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commission which was hearing the application. He said the law passed by the last legislature depriving cities of the right to fix fares was unconstitutional.

Horace Lowry, president of the Twin City lines, testified that the company is broke, has no credit and faces large obligations.

Movie Patrons Prove Honesty

(By United Press)

Hornell, N. Y., July 28—Ninety-nine out of every hundred persons in the United States and everybody in Hornell is honest, according to Charles S. Smith, manager of a local moving picture theatre.

A new policy has been inaugurated at the theatre Smith manages. There are no ticket sellers or takers in the lobby. All persons are admitted free.

After viewing the show they walk to the door where a box with a slot in it has been installed. If they liked the performance they drop thirty cents in the box. There is no attendant to stop the patrons if they don't care to drop the money in the box. There is a girl stationed at a little booth just inside the lobby to provide change for the patrons who want the correct amount.

Manager Smith says that practically all the theatre patrons pay. The only ones who don't drop their money into the box, according to Smith, are the ones dissatisfied with the show.

Austin Cashing In On "Cy" Thomson's Nation Wide Publicity

(By United Press)

Austin, Minn., July 28—"Cy" Thomson and his friends are now cashing in on the nation-wide publicity recently given the Oakdale farms and the Hormel Packing company.

Hundreds of tourists, unable to see "Cy" in his jail cell, are seeing what they can of his holdings. Oakdale park at Leroy, Minn., is their mecca.

Jay Hormel, trustee of the Thomson estate and vice president of the concern from which Thomson is alleged to have obtained over a million dollars, arranged today to install a merry-go-round and other means of entertainment at the park.

There were more people in the park today than on the fourth of July when a big celebration was staged there.

"Black Sox" Team Mates Not Allowed To Testify Their Behalf

Chicago, July 28—"Black Sox" former team mates were called today to testify in behalf of the seven ball players on trial charged with selling out the 1919 world's series.

Johnny Collins and Nemo Liebold, who were with the White Sox during the alleged crooked series, were asked to testify if they believe the indicted men played to the best of their ability.

Question after question was put to the two men by "Ropes" O'Brien and Thomas Nash, defense attorney, with the hope of bringing out this point. Every question was objected to by the state and upheld by the court. The witnesses were excused without being able to testify as they were apparently ready to do, that the "Black Sox" played to the best of their skill.

UNPRECEDENTED RUSH OF GRAIN TO MARKET REPORTED

57,000 CARS REPORTED SHIPPED
DURING WEEK OF JULY
16TH

(By United Press)

Washington, July 28—Farmers, the first to feel the pinch of the nationwide economic depression, now are beginning ahead of any other class of business to experience a little prosperity.

One of the greatest grain movements in history is now crowding the facilities of the railroads, according to reports received by the association of railway executives. Grain shipments during the last five weeks broke the record of more than two years standing.

Cars loaded with grain totalled nearly 298,000 during June and the first two weeks of July. The record showed during the week ending July 16 alone grain loading totalled 57,000 cars. Farmers are crowding the market with grain in such quantities that in some places there is not sufficient elevator storage space. Difficulty in handling grain receipts was reported at Chicago and Galveston.

CHAIN BANK HEAD ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING BANK LAWS

T. L. BERSECKER, OF FESSENDEN,
N. D., IS INDICTED ON TWO
COUNTS—FALSE ENTRIES

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., July 28—T. L. Bersecker of Fessenden, North Dakota, interested in a chain of banks in North Dakota and Montana, was arrested today charged with violation of the national banking laws, according to United States District Attorney Hildreth.

Hildreth said the case had been under investigation for several months. He told the United Press of the indictment and announced Bersecker's arrest today.

Two counts charging Bersecker with making false entries on the bank books under his control, were returned by the federal grand jury. The First National bank at Towner, N. D., and a bank at Plentywood, Mont., which were recently closed because of a shortage, were among those controlled by Bersecker. The cashier of the Towner bank, H. H. Bergh, was indicted last March on 38 counts.

Bersecker is one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in the state. He owns a home at Fessenden valued at $100,000.

He was arraigned today before Federal Judge Amidon and pleaded not guilty. He was released on $5,000 bond.

British Columbia To Turn to The Right

(By United Press)

Vancouver, B. C., July 28—British Columbia is literally going to "Turn to the Right" commencing the first of the year. That means the only sovereignty on the North American continent that follows the old European custom of turning to the left, is to change its rule of the road to prevent traffic confusion.

British Columbians realize it's hard enough for the average American to turn to the left when he is sober. But with the government selling good liquor at $5.00 a quart terrible collisions are feared. For in the tight pinch the touring American always turns to the right by instinct and meets head on with the British Columbian who turns to the left.

And the story goes the round here hat after one such smash up a well-fouled American tourist jumped out of the wreckage and beat up the Canadian motorist for being on the wrong side of the road.

Auto Emigrants Start For West

(By United Press)

New York, July 28—An emigrant train, 1921 model, was scheduled to leave here today for the west.

The trip will not be made in old-fashioned "prairie schooners" but in automobiles, each equipped with a trailer to provide sleeping and cooking accommodations.

The caravan consists of 128 families, all native Americans, who have tired of city life and will take up farming in Idaho, on a tract about 50 miles southwest of Twin Falls. The trip is expected to be made by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha.

The scheme originated with William J. Scott, a Brooklyn salesman, who formerly lived in Minneapolis. He and a friend used to take motor excursions with their families every summer. When the idea of moving to Idaho was born, a mutual friend wanted to go with them, then another and another, until it was decided to form a regular colony.

FIX RATES

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 28—St. Paul city officials will go into the court and attack the constitutionality of the law giving the state railroad and warehouse commission power to fix rates, it developed today at a hearing of the company officials on application of a seven cent fare.

A. R. Nelson, city attorney, objected to the jurisdiction of the railroad and warehouse commission which was hearing the application. He said the law passed by the last legislature depriving cities of the right to fix fares was unconstitutional.

Horace Lowry, president of the Twin City lines, testified that the company is broke, has no credit and faces large obligations.

Movie Patrons Prove Honesty

(By United Press)

Hornell, N. Y., July 28—Ninety-nine out of every hundred persons in the United States and everybody in Hornell is honest, according to Charles S. Smith, manager of a local moving picture theatre.

A new policy has been inaugurated at the theatre Smith manages. There are no ticket sellers or takers in the lobby. All persons are admitted free.

After viewing the show they walk to the door where a box with a slot in it has been installed. If they liked the performance they drop thirty cents in the box. There is no attendant to stop the patrons if they don't care to stop the money in the box. There is a girl stationed at a little booth just inside the lobby to provide change for the patrons who want the correct amount.

Manager Smith says that practically all the theatre patrons pay. The only ones who don't drop their money into the box, according to Smith, are the ones dissatisfied with the show.

Austin Cashing In On "Cy" Thomson's Nation Wide Publicity

(By United Press)

Austin, Minn., July 28—"Cy" Thomson and his friends are now cashing in on the nation-wide publicity recently given the Oakdale farms and the Hormel Packing company.

Hundreds of tourists, unable to see "Cy" in his jail cell, are seeing what they can of his holdings. Oakdale park at Leroy, Minn., is their mecca.

Jay Hormel, trustee of the Thomson estate and vice president of the concern from which Thomson is alleged to have obtained over a million dollars, arranged today to install a merry-go-round and other means of entertainment at the park.

There were more people in the park today than on the fourth of July when a big celebration was staged there.

"Black Sox" Team Mates Not Allowed To Testify Their Behalf

Chicago, July 28—"Black Sox" former team mates were called today to testify in behalf of the seven ball players on trial charged with selling out the 1919 world's series.

Johnny Collins and Nemo Liebold, who were with the White Sox during the alleged crooked series, were asked to testify if they believe the indicted men played to the best of their ability.

Question after question was put to the two men by "Ropes" O'Brien and Thomas Nash, defense attorney, with the hope of bringing out this point. Every question was objected to by the state and upheld by the court. The witnesses were excused without being able to testify as they were apparently ready to do, that the "Black Sox" played to the best of their skill.

UNPRECEDENTED RUSH OF GRAIN TO MARKET REPORTED

57,000 CARS REPORTED SHIPPED
DURING WEEK OF JULY
16TH

(By United Press)

Washington, July 28—Farmers, the first to feel the pinch of the nationwide economic depression, now are beginning ahead of any other class of business to experience a little prosperity.

One of the greatest grain movements in history is now crowding the facilities of the railroads, according to reports received by the association of railway executives. Grain shipments during the last five weeks broke the record of more than two years standing.

Cars loaded with grain totalled nearly 298,000 during June and the first two weeks of July. The record showed during the week ending July 16 alone grain loading totalled 57,000 cars. Farmers are crowding the market with grain in such quantities that in some places there is not sufficient elevator storage space. Difficulty in handling grain receipts was reported at Chicago and Galveston.

CHAIN BANK HEAD ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING BANK LAWS

T. L. BERSECKER, OF FESSENDEN,
N. D., IS INDICTED ON TWO
COUNTS—FALSE ENTRIES

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., July 28—T. L. Bersecker of Fessenden, North Dakota, interested in a chain of banks in North Dakota and Montana, was arrested today charged with violation of the national banking laws, according to United States District Attorney Hildreth.

Hildreth said the case had been under investigation for several months. He told the United Press of the indictment and announced Bersecker's arrest today.

Two counts charging Bersecker with making false entries on the bank books under his control, were returned by the federal grand jury. The First National bank at Towner, N. D., and a bank at Plentywood, Mont., which were recently closed because of a shortage, were among those controlled by Bersecker. The cashier of the Towner bank, H. H. Bergh, was indicted last March on 38 counts.

Bersecker is one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in the state. He owns a home at Fessenden valued at $100,000.

He was arraigned today before Federal Judge Amidon and pleaded not guilty. He was released on $5,000 bond.

British Columbia To Turn to The Right

(By United Press)

Vancouver, B. C., July 28—British Columbia is literally going to "Turn to the Right" commencing the first of the year. That means the only sovereignty on the North American continent that follows the old European custom of turning to the left, is to change its rule of the road to prevent traffic confusion.

British Columbians realize it's hard enough for the average American to turn to the left when he is sober. But with the government selling good liquor at $5.00 a quart terrible auto collisions are feared. For in the tight pinch the touring American always turns to the right by instinct and meets head on with the British Columbian who turns to the left.

And the story goes the round here hat after one such smash up a well-known American tourist jumped out of the wreckage and beat up the Canadian motorist for being on the wrong side of the road.

Auto Emigrants Start For West

(By United Press)

New York, July 28—An emigrant train, 1921 model, was scheduled to leave here today for the west.

The trip will not be made in old-fashioned "prairie schooners" but in automobiles, each equipped with a trailer to provide sleeping and cooking accommodations.

The caravan consists of 128 families, all native Americans, who have tired of city life and will take up farming in Idaho, on a tract about 50 miles southwest of Twin Falls. The trip is expected to be made by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha.

The scheme originated with William J. Scott, a Brooklyn salesman, who formerly lived in Minneapolis. He and a friend used to take motor excursions with their families every summer. When the idea of moving to Idaho was born, a mutual friend wanted to go with them, then another and another, until it was decided to form a regular colony.

Senate Finance Committee Votes to Give Sec. Mellon Unlimited Power on Loans

(By United Press)

Washington, July 28—The senate finance committee today voted a favorable report on the bill giving Secretary Mellon unlimited power to arrange for collection of foreign loans.

The only limitation put on Mellon's power by the committee was an amendment by Senator Penrose requiring that refunding of the foreign loans be finished within five years.

CHANGE MADE FOR TOURISTS

Pictures in Museum of the Louvre "Standardized" With Idea of Pleasing Americans.

Even that sedate, historic pile, the Museum of the Louvre, has not escaped the effects of the "preparation" which all Paris has been undergoing for the reception of the American tourist. It was decided some time ago that the old method of hanging the pictures according to their merits and according to the lighting effect desired was too haphazard and too prone to confuse the visitor who was unfamiliar with the old works, their period and school. Some one suggested "standardization." There was a howl from the French press, which shrank from the thought of touching even a picture cord in the famous gallery, but the thought was advanced that if the coming thousands of American visitors to Paris were to properly enjoy the pictures they should be properly classified according to their period and school. This has been done, and now one passes through the big rooms as one might a department store. Here are works of the early Italian painters, here those of the Italian renaissance, there those of the early Flemish school and there the products of early Spanish genius. The Louvre, of course, is a sacred rite. Now it's a rite simplified, standardized and somewhat stereotyped. Some pictures which require strong light are almost in the dark, and others which would benefit by a somber surrounding suffer a glare. The guide calls this a "systeme American." Despite it the Louvre remains a rare treat.—World Traveler.

Pictures in Museum of the Louvre "Standardized" With Idea of Pleasing Americans.

Even that sedate, historic pile, the Museum of the Louvre, has not escaped the effects of the "preparation" which all Paris has been undergoing for the reception of the American tourist. It was decided some time ago that the old method of hanging the pictures according to their merits and according to the lighting effect desired was too haphazard and too prone to confuse the visitor who was unfamiliar with the old works, their period and school. Some one suggested "standardization." There was a howl from the French press, which shrunk from the thought of touching even a picture cord in the famous gallery, but the thought was advanced that if the coming thousands of American visitors to Paris were to properly enjoy the pictures they should be properly classified according to their period and school. This has been done, and now one passes through the big rooms as one might a department store. Here are works of the early Italian renaissance, there those of the early Flemish school and there the products of early Spanish genius. The Louvre, of course, is a sacred rite. Now it's a rite simplified, standardized and somewhat stereotyped. Some pictures which require strong light are almost in the dark, and others which would benefit by a somber surrounding suffer a glare. The guide calls this a "systeme American." Despite it the Louvre remains a rare treat.—World Traveler.

Little Money Saver Says:

We have just received several new patterns. These new designs are all open stock dishes and you will be able to buy extra pieces for them at any time. This is a very desirable feature because when you break a cup or a plate, we will always be in a position to furnish new pieces to replace them and you will always have a complete set of dishes. You will find the prices on these new sets are very low.

LINE UP GUESTS AGAINST THE WALL—GET $10,000 IN LOOT

(By United Press)

San Francisco, July 28—Bandits broke into the Colonial Club on Powell street early today, lined up the guests against the wall, took their money and escaped.

Police said the report indicated the loot was valued at approximately $10,000. The bandit victims were engaged in a card game, police said.

Montevideo Bank Is Temporarily Closed

St. Paul, July 28—The Chippewa County State Bank at Montevideo, Minn., was closed today by S. B. Duca, state superintendent of banks.

G. H. Sivright, deputy bank examiner, reported there was a shortage in the bank's reserve and it was not prepared to meet withdrawals. The closing is only temporary, it was said.

MADAME VALESKA

By MOLLIE MATHER.

Fenton fidgeted uncomfortably in the surroundings which were foreign to his frank wholesomeness. Always he had hated subterfuge of any kind, yet here he was in this dim interior redolent of sandalwood at Lilla's request. Lilla suffered some ailment which, while doctors considered it unimportant, was to Lilla a real affliction.

The pain of her arm had necessitated Fenton's doing her hair that morning, and one of Lilla's studio friends assured her Madame Valeska could miraculously locate and cure pain where physicians failed.

Madame Valeska was a trance-medium, in great favor among the young art students. Lilla had at once insisted that Fenton go and hold audience with this famously clever seer, regarding her own condition. And the indulgent brother, fretting his impatience, had never-the-less gone.

Perhaps, when this Madame Valeska had demonstrated her infallibility in Lilla's case, the girl would be satisfied and cured. He intended to give her no information in her questioning. Into the softly lighted waiting room, came presently another seeker after hidden knowledge. Fenton smiled grimly at the patient waiters already assembled. But this girl appeared unlike them to share his own unrest—almost his own humiliation. Like some small gray shadow, she retired diffidently to the recess of the long room. She had cast him one frightened glance in passing, and impulsively—Fenton hardly knew why—he followed, perhaps, to give assurance, or to laugh away her significance of the occasion.

The girl's face was as white, and fear-stricken, as a child's in face of disaster.

"Well," he asked the young woman in the gray frock. "What is your particular trouble? And is Madame Valeska to bring the remedy from one of her picturesque trances? The Madame can keep it up pretty well, I am told. I have never before attended this curious kind of entertainment."

But levity evidently could not allay the girl's fears.

"Madame Valeska really visits the spirit world," she told him in an awed tone, "the things she tells are marvelous. But, if you do not believe, why do you come?"

The question was asked not in rudeness, but wonderingly.

"I came," Fenton good-humoredly replied, "to please my fanciful sister, who is as easily impressed as yourself. She hopes that Madame Valeska will influence some kind spirit to take imaginary pains out of her arms."

The little frightened patient nodded. "Madame Valeska will know best what to tell her," she said, "only yesterday I lost my purse, and she found it for me."

"And afterward robbed it for you," Fenton added grimly.

The girl's eyes were reproachful. "Madame has to have money to keep this place up," she reminded him. "Her charge really is not much. That is, when you consider what she does for one."

"Fraud," Fenton contemptuously exclaimed; with real concern he regarded the trusting face before him.

"Do not let this seer impose upon you, little girl," he advised. "Make this your last visit." She stood as though considering. But a watchful attendant slipped to her side.

"Madame Valeska," she informed the girl, "will see you now."

The girl did not reappear. Disappointed, Fenton learned that questioners were dismissed after their audience, through a rear door.

His own turn came next. Theatrical, indeed, was Madame's setting. White and small, as a child's, her hands made mystic movements, then Madame Valeska bent above her crystal ball. Fenton folded his arms cynically—but she asked him no questions. Madame, in a voice faint and far away as a musical echo, gave voluntary information. Fenton stared.

"The artist," faltered Madame, "the lovely sister—will yet be famous. Fame is worth the price of a pain—or two. After all—not serious. The spirits—they tell me, nothing to do. Tell this sister—who is it? Ah, yes, Lilla—to forget the pain—to think nothing of it. To rest—to be much in the fresh air and sunshine—to put her fancies aside. That is all."

Fenton sat blinking. Madame Valeska had gone: After the attendant silently dismissed him through the rear doorway, he stood thinking. Then suddenly and unannounced he entered again the waiting room.

The patients had departed. Still in the shadow of a screen he waited. And after a time, came to him a girl's carefree singing. Into the somber room she came, opening wide to the air, it's windows. Then, amazed, she beheld Fenton. He stood smiling in the eyes of the little gray lady.

"So, Madame Valeska," he said, "that is how you obtain your information. As patient, first in your own waiting room, you hear many confidences."

"Well," shrugged the girl, a laughing daring taking the place of former diffidence. "Well, you have heard that I am clever."

Elegance in Accessories

THERE are as many little things that tone up this summer's costume and lend it an accent, as any season has afforded. There are veils for those who like their softening lines, small fur neck-pieces that are graceful and kind to their wearers, girdles of "ivory" and beads or "composition" in different colors that are new. There are many new necklaces of crystal and of seeds, new styles in beaded purses and others of new kinds of leather, including ostrich skin, and there are even a few new parasols, with those covered with cretonne a cheerful revival. By all such means charming changes and harmonies lend interest to summer costumes.

A pretty company of new shopping bags reveals these necessities made of summer silks as well as of ribbons. Tricotee and heavy crepe weaves are used for them in the same sort of mountings as are used for ribbon. In decorations they seem to have taken their cues from sport hats, the same embroideries in yarn and bead work appear on them. Those of ribbon present novelties, like the two pictured here, in which plain satin ribbon and narrow figured ribbons are combined and the bags mounted on metal mountings. The mountings will outwear the fabric, but will serve as well for new materials. An odd bag, suspended from the body of a doll, is shown in the picture, for wear with evening dress.

Strands of beads are the most popular of all purely decorative dress accessories and those of cut crystals vie with the universally worn strands of pearl beads. The glass beads are made in many colors, both in clear and opaque varieties; those that imitate jade are found to harmonize with nearly all summer dresses. Not much jewelry is worn, but a pretty novelty in bracelets is a delicate and flexible band of filigree silver flowers or a strand of rhinestones for the arm.

FATAL FLAW IN HER BLUFF

Dilatory Young Woman Had Overlooked One Important Point, and It Spoiled the Whole Thing.

She had just discovered a new way to fix her hair, a way that took at least half an hour longer than usual, and the result was that she was unusually late that morning. All the way down on the car she cudgeled her brain for a satisfactory excuse, but all the stock phrases sounded too weak, so she finally gave up in despair. Half-way down, however, she saw two fire-ridden houses with one lone hose wagon standing in front and a crowd of curious visitors gazing at the wreck. "Ah!" she thought, "this is a good enough excuse for anyone!"

Arriving at the office, she did not even give the boss time to comment on her late arrival, but burst excitedly in the room crying: "Oh, I saw the biggest fire! Two or three houses were burned down clear to the ground, and the people were standing around, and the hose was across the track," etc., etc. As she saw a strange, incredulous look on the boss' face she elaborated the story until one would think it was a second Chicago fire. At last when she stopped for breath, and started to take her hat off with a self-satisfied, well-fooled-'em look, the boss picked up the morning paper and quietly said: "Yes, that happened yesterday."—Indianapolis News.

A Child's View.

A Columbus woman and her four-year-old daughter attended a moving picture show recently, and the picture developed rather an unexpected angle, in that a person who had appeared on the screen for some time, appeared to be the spirit of a man who had returned to earth in order to make a confession and right a wrong. The woman was discussing the picture with a friend, and both expressed astonishment at the outcome of the story, saying they never had dreamed it was a man back from the grave.

The little girl listened with intense interest, then said: "Well, mother, now that I think of it, I did think that man had a sort of moldy look."—Indianapolis News.

Motors in United States.

Five billion passengers, or nearly four times the 1,234,000,000 revenue passengers of the steam railroads, were carried by automobiles in the United States, last year. Motor trucks hauled 1,200 million tons of freight, or nearly half the 2,504 million tons carried by rail lines. Growth of the automobile business has not been competitive with the railroads, however. Much of it is directly tributary, as in bringing passengers from farm to train and in suburban service to cities. The 1920 motor car passenger figures represent an increase of 400 million over the preceding year, and the railroads showed a gain of 60 million revenue passengers in the same period.

BLUFFED HIS WAY HOMEWARD

War Veteran, Stranded in China, Finally Got Back to the States on His Nerve.

Earl Stanley, young American war hero and world traveler, walked boldly up the gangway leading to the China mail liner, China, while the vessel was at Hongkong, presented his passports to the proper authorities, picked out a convenient officer's stateroom and deposited his two suitcases. This done, he picked out a deck chair where he could take in his new surroundings and proceeded to make himself at home and comfortable.

For a period of 48 hours young Stanley enjoyed the hospitality of the vessel without any interference from the officers of the China. Then he was asked where his ticket was, who he was, whither he was going and a lot of other questions.

To the first interrogation he nonchalantly told his interviewer that he did not have a ticket calling for his passage, what his name was, and that he lived in Pasadena, Cal., with San Francisco as his port of bidding adieu to the China. He also volunteered the information that he was a student at Occidental college before the traveling bug entered his head.

Stanley's chances of reaching his desired destination were slim, as he would be ejected from the vessel at one of the nearby ports, when Capt. J. C. Daily and Robert Pitt, traveling on the craft, appeared as happy meddlers. After hearing of Stanley's embarrassment they quickly settled the matter by arranging to pay his passage.

Stanley was with the aviation corps during the war and later started on his jaunt around the world. He suffered financial reverses when Hongkong was reached and was forced to make the last link of his trip by the method described.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Invented Useful Machine.

Cost of New Lamp Is Low.

A new incandescent lamp, filled with Neon gas, can be burned continuously at a cost of about 36 cents per month, as it consumes current at the rate of only five watts per hour. The red light emitted is used for signaling.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Annie Laurie.

Annie Laurie was the oldest of the three daughters of Sir Robert Laurie of Maxwellton, in the county of Kirkcudbright, Scotland. In 1799 she married James Ferguson, of Craigdarroch, and she was the mother of Alexander Ferguson, the hero of Burns' song, "The Whistle." The song of "Annie Laurie" was written by William Douglas of Finland, in the stewardry of Kirkcudbright, hero of the song "Willie Was a Wanton Wag."

What Speed Means to the Average Motorist

"We are sometimes asked what a man who expects to drive at 35 miles per hour wants with an automobile that will do better than 70 miles per hour," says Mr. H. M. Jewett, President of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company.

"I want to drive 35, 40, and maybe 45 miles per hour some times," says the prospect. "What do I care for more speed than I will ever use?"

"The answer is just this. If you own a car that will do 80 miles per hour and you drive it at 40 miles per hour it is traveling at half speed. Think what that means in the elimination of strain on both car and driver. At what is top speed for another car the Paige '6-66' is loafing along easily without strain, vibration or fuss.

"We do not advise the average owner to drive at terrific speeds. But we do know that when we furnish him a car capable of great speeds we give him a car that, in ordinary use will prove exceptionally sturdy and long-lived, unusually economical among fine cars, and especially comfortable."

Five billion passengers, or nearly four times the 1,234,000,000 revenue passengers of the steam railroads, were carried by automobiles in the United States, last year. Motor trucks hauled 1,200 million tons of freight, or nearly half the 2,504 million tons carried by rail lines. Growth of the automobile business has not been competitive with the railroads, however. Much of it is directly tributary, as in bringing passengers from farm to train and in suburban service to cities.

The 1920 motor car passenger figures represent an increase of 400 million over the preceding year, and the railroads showed a gain of 60 million revenue passengers in the same period.

BLUFFED HIS WAY HOMEWARD

War Veteran, Stranded in China, Finally Got Back to the States on His Nerve.

Earl Stanley, young American war hero and world traveler, walked boldly up the gangway leading to the China mail liner, China, while the vessel was at Hongkong, presented his passports to the proper authorities, picked out a convenient officer's stateroom and deposited his two suitcases. This done, he picked out a deck chair where he could take in his new surroundings and proceeded to make himself at home and comfortable.

For a period of 48 hours young Stanley enjoyed the hospitality of the vessel without any interference from the officers of the China. Then he was asked where his ticket was, who he was, whither he was going and a lot of other questions.

To the first interrogation he nonchalantly told his interviewer that he did not have a ticket calling for his passage, what his name was, and that he lived in Pasadena, Cal., with San Francisco as his port of bidding adieu to the China. He also volunteered the information that he was a student at Occidental college before the traveling bug entered his head.

Stanley's chances of reaching his desired destination were slim, as he would be ejected from the vessel at one of the nearby ports, when Capt. J. C. Daily and Robert Pitt, traveling on the craft, appeared as happy mediums. After hearing of Stanley's embarrassment they quickly settled the matter by arranging to pay his passage.

Stanley was with the aviation corps during the war and later started on his jaunt around the world. He suffered financial reverses when Hongkong was reached and was forced to make the last link of his trip by the method described.—San Francisco Chronicle.

What Speed Means to the Average Motorist

"We are sometimes asked what a man who expects to drive at 35 miles per hour wants with an automobile that will do better than 76 miles per hour," says Mr. H. M. Jewett, President of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company.

"I want to drive 35, 40, and maybe 45 miles per hour some times," says the prospect. "What do I care for more speed than I will ever use?"

"The answer is just this. If you own a car that will do 80 miles per hour and you drive it at 40 miles per hour it is traveling at half speed. Think what that means in the elimination of strain on both car and driver. At what is top speed for another car the Paige '6-66' is loafing along easily without strain, vibration or fuss.

"We do not advise the average owner to drive at terrific speeds. But we do know that when we furnish him a car capable of great speeds we give him a car that, in ordinary use will prove exceptionally sturdy and long-lived, unusually economical among fine cars, and especially comfortable."

STATE MAINTENANCE ON TRIAL.

Naturally, citizens who are daily travelling over the State Trunk Highway now maintained exclusively by the State Highway Department under the so-called Babcock amendment and law, are comparing the quality of the maintenance work with that formerly directed by the county authorities on the same roads.

Before the court of public opinion the maintenance of the Trunk Highway is on trial.

Possibly it is too early to arrive at conclusions, and then no final judgment can be reached as conditions of maintenance vary in different localities.

We do not know just how state maintenance is working out even throughout Crow Wing county, but we do know that the maintenance work now being done by the state on the trunk highway from Brainerd to Jenkins is very much poorer than that done by the county. It was not uncommon, when the county did this work, to come over this road after a rain and while it was still damp and find every section freshly dragged. Now it cannot be said that such a situation would be unusual, for, in fact, it is impossible under the present arrangement.

Dragging must be done under the right conditions to really improve a road. It should be done while a road is wet following a rain, and while conditions are such that it is drying. It is therefore obvious that a maintenance man cannot properly handle too large a section, as the road will become thoroughly dry before the dragging is completed. It is a waste of time to drag a thoroughly dry road, and yet there are sections of this road assigned to one man to drag so long that the section cannot be covered by him in ten hours of work with a team. It may be satisfactory to assign long sections of road to a full time man for maintenance work other than dragging, but the present dragging arrangements on this road are far from satisfactory.

Sometimes, possibly, too much is expected in road maintenance and special traffic conditions are not taken into consideration, but on this road the traffic is no more heavy than last year, and the road is now in very poor condition in spite of the fact that the county had it in very excellent shape this spring.

JAPAN POUTING

In Europe, as well as in the United States, leading statesmen are strongly of the opinion that at President Harding's proposed disarmament conference every possible effort should be made to agree upon some plan which will remove all the causes of irritation in the Pacific and Far East that might eventually lead to international disturbances. To accomplish that end it will be necessary to have the conference to discuss each and every question that may be brought up. But crafty Japan is showing a disposition to have certain matters excluded from consideration, and from comments of the Japanese press, there is ample ground for the opinion that influential persons in Japan wish to create the impression that the conference is based upon hostility to Japanese interests. It needs only to be said that if those who are responsible for the effort to further that impression have the idea that they are creating sympathy for Japan, they have made no headway in that direction, as far as we have observed.

IMPROVED BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Reports from the various industrial and business centers of the country indicate that the utter stagnation in some lines seems to be about ready to pass into a moderate increase in activity, while other lines which have had a fair amount of sales recently are preparing for a material increase in orders in the near future.

This outlook for improvement is based upon the probability that consumers in many lines have allowed their supplies on hand to be depleted to a point where it will be absolutely necessary to do some buying fairly soon. It is the general opinion from the best information obtainable from the various trades that this "necessity buying" may very easily be turned into a big movement. The prospects are that this will be the case if there should be a return of "confidence" in many lines of business.

Generally speaking, there is an optimistic feeling, because indications point to an improvement in trade. While the changes indicated are not marked, they are distinctly apparent.

NO CHEAPER COAL RATES

Railroad officials who met in Chicago Saturday for the purpose of re-adjusting rates, announce that there will be no reduction in the coal rates this year, at least in time to affect shipments before cold weather. Hope of a reduction in coal prices, which dealers say has virtually paralyzed the retail trade, has vanished so far as cheaper freight rates, upon which consumers have been pinning their hope for relief, are concerned.

Down at Washington town both the administrative and the legislative branches of the national government are now showing more speed in cutting dead wood out of the department, reorganizing them on a business basis and choking off sympathy.

The optimistic Baudette Region finds comfort in the thought that if yawning lengthens life, as the scientists say, Congress is doing some good after all.

GOT ALONG WITHOUT BOSSING

Joseph Pulitzer Selected His Right Hand Men With Care, and Then Let Them Alone.

There is an old proverb to the effect that a good boss makes a good workman. There must be something in it. The most successful employers are those who have the most worthwhile employees. Part of the success, no doubt, is in picking the employee. Another part, perhaps, is in letting him alone. If he is worth keeping he is worth trusting.

"Joseph Pulitzer never dictated to me," said Samuel G. Blythe, according to an exchange. "He never told me what to write or what not to. Only once in my life did he even make a request of me."

Blythe was for years the star man in the great blind editor's Washington bureau. Now and then, as Blythe explained, Mr. Pulitzer went to some trouble to prove in the editorial column that Blythe was suffering from a prolapsus of the intellect. Sometimes he massed facts to show that his opinion differed monumentally from that of his Washington luminary. But he never dictated, said Blythe. Or almost never. But once he did ask a favor.

"I had been sharpshooting at the manner in which a great firm of architects was abusing the exterior of the White House," said Blythe, "when one day I got a wire from the old man. It ran something like this: 'Unless you have a deep personal feeling in the matter I wish you would cease further reference to the rebuilding of the White House. Please understand this is not a criticism of what you have written. But the same firm of architects is building a house for me, and if you don't lay off I'll not get into it for two years.'"

Blythe's conclusion was that an employer of that sort is fairly sure to have employees who will rob graves, sit up all night, or tear a thesaurus to tatters for him.

PLAIN DEALING BY ALL NATIONS

SUCH IS THE HOPE AND EXPECTATION FOR CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON.

AMERICA WON'T BE SELFISH

Optimists Think the Meeting May Even Result in the Establishment of World Peace, but the Skeptical Are Many.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—It has been said in Washington by a man of high official position that it is the desire of the administration that every question to be considered at the coming disarmament conference shall be answered "in the light of public opinion throughout the world."

It is apparent from what one learns from high sources of information on international matters, that so far as the United States is concerned, there is to be no selfish insistence on any "America first" plan which cannot stand the test of criticism in every country of the world. This means, of course, that anything which can stand this test necessarily must at the same time stand the test of American opinion.

From this it seems to be the feeling of the administration and its advisers in looking after American interests, this country will meet with no opposition nor lack of sympathy from the governments which are to be a party to the conference, nor from any of the other governments of the world.

There is a realizing sense in the advisory council of the administration that each of the conferring nations will have its self-safeguarding proposals. It seems to be the feeling of American officials that selfishness in the usually objectionable meaning of the word will be absent from the council chamber, or that if it shall succeed in entering there it will be overcome by knowledge of the way in which the wind of world opinion blows.

Fair Dealing Expected.

There seems actually to be no apprehension among the proponents of the coming conference that any nation which is to be a party to it, or any other nation which will have any influence with it, will attempt to draw any red herrings across the trail leading to the conference chamber. It seems to be hoped and virtually prayed for in administration circles that there shall be no advanced prejudices which may impair the work of the conferees.

It seems clearer day by day that official Washington really and finally believes in its heart that the coming conference is to take within the scope of its discussion many things which are far outside of the field of armament limitations, and of Far East problems. Nothing has happened here yet to make it appear that the United States in any way will attempt to circumscribe discussion within narrow limits. On the other hand, there are evidences of an apparent willingness, at present at any rate, that one thing shall lead to another in the conference until finally there possibly may be evolved a plan for the readjustment of the international troubles of the world.

Now, as some men here say, all this is admirable, but there are some skeptics who, while they want disarmament and general peace to come, fear and say that they fear that dreams of the present, like dreams of the past, may not materialize. So far as the United States is concerned, it is standing aloof from participation in a league which was to do everything for the peace of the world.

Skeptics Are Not Wanting.

The majority of the students of the situation in Washington seem to think the conference actually will bring about disarmament, satisfactory arrangements for a tranquil Far East, and ultimately for peace in the world. It must be said, however, because it is the straight truth, that there are men here, and hard-headed men at that, who still smell mustard and chlorine gas, see the wakes of the submarines, and hear the whirl of air motors in the days after the representatives of the nations of the world solemnly have declared for disarmament and for peace throughout creation.

The comments of the newspapers of the countries which are to be parties to the conference seem to show that the officials of other governments feel like the administration of this government, that good is to come out of the conference. Are they sincere in their belief? Doubtless their hope runs with their words, but there is more than a rod's difference between hope and belief.

Somehow or other, it seems as if a word of warning were necessary today, not for the purpose of removing hope of peace forever, but for the purpose of letting people know that there is a chance that the effort for lasting peace may fail. There have been wars on earth ever since before the days when the Philistines and the Israelites were smiting each other. If the conference in Washington can disarm the world, leaving only weapons enough for defensive purposes in each nation thereof, it will have made its individual conferees eligible for beatification. It is a big job that is ahead.

There is an old proverb to the effect that a good boss makes a good workman. There must be something in it. The most successful employers are those who have the most worthwhile employees. Part of the success, no doubt, is in picking the employee. Another part, perhaps, is in letting him alone. If he is worth keeping he is worth trusting.

"Joseph Pulitzer never dictated to me," said Samuel G. Blythe, according to an exchange. "He never told me what to write or what not to. Only once in my life did he even make a request of me."

Blythe was for years the star man in the great blind editor's Washington bureau. Now and then, as Blythe explained, Mr. Pulitzer went to some trouble to prove in the editorial column that Blythe was suffering from a prolapsus of the intellect. Sometimes he massed facts to show that his opinion differed monumentally from that of his Washington luminary. But he never dictated, said Blythe. Or almost never. But once he did ask a favor.

"I had been sharpshooting at the manner in which a great firm of architects was abusing the exterior of the White House," said Blythe, "when one day I got a wire from the old man. It ran something like this:

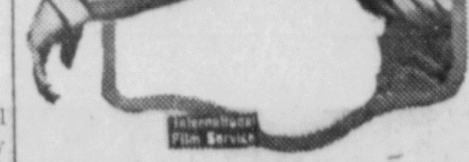

"Unless you have a deep personal feeling in the matter I wish you would cease further reference to the rebuilding of the White House. Please understand this is not a criticism of what you have written. But the same firm of architects is building a house for me, and if you don't lay off I'll not get into it for two years."

Blythe's conclusion was that an employer of that sort is fairly sure to have employees who will rob graves, sit up all night, or tear a thesaurus to tatters for him.

PLAIN DEALING
BY ALL NATIONS

SUCH IS THE HOPE AND EXPECTATION FOR CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON.

AMERICA WON'T BE SELFISH

Optimists Think the Meeting May Even Result in the Establishment of World Peace, but the Skeptical Are Many.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—It has been said in Washington by a man of high official position that it is the desire of the administration that every question to be considered at the coming disarmament conference shall be answered "in the light of public opinion throughout the world."

It is apparent from what one learns from high sources of information on international matters, that so far as the United States is concerned, there is to be no selfish insistence on any "America first" plan which cannot stand the test of criticism in every country of the world. This means, of course, that anything which can stand this test necessarily must at the same time stand the test of American opinion.

From this it seems to be the feeling of the administration and its advisers in looking after American interests, this country will meet with no opposition nor lack of sympathy from the governments which are to be a party to the conference, nor from any of the other governments of the world.

There is a realizing sense in the advisory council of the administration that each of the conferring nations will have its self-protecting proposals. It seems to be the feeling of American officials that selfishness in the usually objectionable meaning of the word will be absent from the council chamber, or that if it shall succeed in entering there it will be overcome by knowledge of the way in which the wind of world opinion blows.

Fair Dealing Expected.

There seems actually to be no apprehension among the proponents of the coming conference that any nation which is to be a party to it, or any other nation which will have any influence with it, will attempt to draw any red herrings across the trail leading to the conference chamber. It seems to be hoped and virtually prayed for in administration circles that there shall be no advanced prejudices which may impair the work of the conferees.

It seems clearer day by day that official Washington really and finally believes in its heart that the coming conference is to take within the scope of its discussion many things which are far outside of the field of armament limitations, and of Far East problems. Nothing has happened here yet to make it appear that the United States in any way will attempt to circumscribe discussion within narrow limits. On the other hand, there are evidences of an apparent willingness, at present at any rate, that one thing shall lead to another in the conference until finally there possibly may be evolved a plan for the readjustment of the international troubles of the world.

Now, as some men here say, all this is admirable, but there are some skeptics who, while they want disarmament and general peace to come, fear and say that they fear that dreams of the present, like dreams of the past, may not materialize. So far as the United States is concerned, it is standing aloof from participation in a league which was to do everything for the peace of the world.

Skeptics Are Not Wanting.

The majority of the students of the situation in Washington seem to think the conference actually will bring about disarmament, satisfactory arrangements for a tranquil Far East, and ultimately for peace in the world. It must be said, however, because it is the straight truth, that there are men here, and hard-headed men at that, who still smell mustard and chlorine gas, see the wakes of the submarines, and hear the whir of air motors in the days after the representatives of the nations of the world solemnly have declared for disarmament and for peace throughout creation.

The comments of the newspapers of the countries which are to be parties to the conference seem to show that the officials of other governments feel like the administration of this government, that good is to come out of the conference. Are they sincere in their belief? Doubtless their hope runs with their words, but there is more than a rod's difference between hope and belief.

Somewhat or other, it seems as if a word of warning were necessary today, not for the purpose of removing hope of peace forever, but for the purpose of letting people know that there is a chance that the effort for lasting peace may fail. There have been wars on earth ever since before the days when the Philistines and the Israelites were sniping each other. If the conference in Washington can disarm the world, leaving only weapons enough for defensive purposes in each nation thereof, it will have made its individual conferees eligible for beatification. It is a big job that is ahead.

CHAMBER COMMERCE REGULAR MEETING

Six New Members Are Added to the Membership Rolls of Chamber of Commerce

FEDERAL AID FOR ROADS ASKED
Progress Reported in Campaign to Secure Vocational School in Brainerd

In spite of summer weather and many counter attractions the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce had an interesting meeting attended by the ardent workers of the Chamber.

Federal Aid Resolution

Whereas, it is understood that there is danger of losing for the State of Minnesota the Federal aid for the road program of this State, and

Whereas, such action should seriously cripple and retard the great work instituted by the passing of the Amendment Number 1 better known as the Babcock road law, and

Whereas, this state would lose the sum of two million eight hundred thousand dollars Federal aid which was counted on as available

Therefore Be It Resolved, that this body urgently and earnestly request your valuable aid and support in the passage of the bill termed and known as the Townsen Bill.

The above resolution was adopted by the Chamber and copies are to be sent to Senator Nelson and Kellogg and Congressman Knutson.

New Members

New members gained by the Chamber of Commerce were J. F. Cibazar, head of the Brainerd Bottling Works, J. A. Jonas who operates the sawmill in the Mill district; Suraker Brothers, Rev. J. E. Cadwell, pastor of the Peoples Congregational church; R. E. Whitlock; Dr. Roy Williams, chiropractor. The group was unanimously elected.

State Realtors Convention

The State Realtors convention opens in Bemidji soon and Brainerd will have a delegation present, said President D. D. Schrader. Messrs. Scharder and Wise have made arrangements to have the delegates traveling by automobile return home by way of Brainerd and make a short stop here. Backed by the Chamber, the house, and social committee will look after the entertainment of the visitors. They are expected in Brainerd probably August 14. Brainerd will make a bid for the 1922 convention of this association.

Identification Buttons

President Schrader displayed a large sample convention button carrying the name of a man's organization, his name and business, something very useful when attending conventions. If 25 will order such buttons through Secretary O. J. Bouma they can be secured at $1 each.

Chiropractors Convention

The State Chiropractors Association convention will be held some time in September. On motion carried, Secretary O. J. Bouma will attend to assist Dr. Roy Williams in presenting the merits of Brainerd as a convention city.

Bill Allowed

Bills incurred in the Chamber's campaign to gain a federal vocational school were allowed.

Finance Committee

The finance committee's report was very satisfactory. Old bills amounting to over $2700 had been paid.

Muscle Shoals

Russellville, Ala. Chamber of Commerce asked support of the Chamber to endorse the offer of Henry Ford to take over the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant.

On motion it was referred to the legislative committee with instructions to confer with Congressman Harold Knutson who will soon be in Brainerd.

Parks and Playgrounds

The parks and playgrounds committee reported the city had cleaned the camp site and that an average of three to ten camping parties pitched camp there every day.

Publicity Committee

The publicity committee reported on work done and other matters under consideration.

House and Social Committee

The house and social committee mentioned plans, and had made repairs of billiard cues etc.

WATER MAIN IN DEPLORABLE SHAPE

Leak at Main and North Fourth Streets Shows Several Clamps Applied Do Not Hold

THE OLD PIPE IS WORN OUT
Water and Light Board Contemplates Putting in a Block of Brand New Water Main

The big water main leak at Main and North Fourth streets has demonstrated that there is a limit in repair work. In spite of the many clamps attached to the old water main there, a point has been reached when a clamp will not hold a rotten pipe.

The water and light board is contemplating putting in a block of new main and work is expected to commence on Monday when the water will be turned off three or four days and the district notified.

There will be a dry spell for this section of the city:

Main from Fourth to Bluff.

Third street from Main to Juniper.

Kingwood from Third to Bluff.

All of that section of the city popularly termed "Codeville".

Due notice will be given so that every household will have the chance to accumulate in barrels and otherwise a water reserve.

NEW COAL BUNKERS

Turcotte Brothers Adding This Extra Storage Space to Their Fuel Supply Department

New coal bunkers being added by Turcotte Brothers will give this firm sufficient storage to carry 1,500 tons of coal. The new sheds will have cement foundations and a cement runway between sheds and track. The bunkers will be 100 feet in length and 15 feet wide.

An automatic unloading machine is new equipment to be added. The firm is so arranging its coal yard, etc., that every shipment will be handled with dispatch and orders will be quickly filled.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES TODAY

Two little girls lost a $5 bill. One claimed to have seen a man pick it up, but the latter, when approached, denied having found a bill.

Hot weather is driving many Brainerd people to poetry, not to the reading of it, but to the manufacture of the verses.

The Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church will give an ice cream social Thursday evening under the auspices of the Fireside club in the church parlor.

Men's Club

The Men's club of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church will be entertained in the church parlor Friday evening by the bachelors.

NOTICE

Brainerd, Minn.,
July 27th, 1921
Bids will be received by the City Council up to 8 o'clock P. M., August 15th, 1921, for furnishing the city approximately 175 tons of Young-Houghney Soft Coal, for delivery at the City Hall Building and City Fire Station, 50 tons for delivery upon acceptance of bid.

GEO. W. GREWCOCX,
City Clerk.

House of Historic Interest.

One of the features of the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, to be held at Plymouth, will be the opening to the public of the William Harlowe house, built in 1677. This is one of the few buildings now remaining which stood within the lifetime of any of those who came on the Mayflower, and it has a particular interest owing to the fact that it was framed with oak timbers from the old fort, which, as Winslow relates, "was built in 1622 on the top of the hill under which the town was located."

After King Philip's war, when danger from Indian depredations had passed, the fort was dismantled and the timbers sold to Sergt. William Harlowe, a man of prominence in the colony, who used them in the construction of his house on the ancient highway where it still stands.

Newfoundland Well Watered.

One-third of the surface of Newfoundland is covered with lakes and rivers. The largest lake is Grand lake, 56 miles in length, five miles in breadth, with an area of 192 square miles. It contains an island 22 miles long. Its surface is only 500 feet above sea level.

TAKING SPAWN FROM GULL LAKE

Natural Fish Hatchery is Most Profitable in Its Yield, Spawn Widely Distributed

EXTRA CANS ARE RECEIVED
Rubber Boots Also Loaned Crow Wing Game, Fish & Bird Protective League by Game Commission

The Cardle natural fish hatchery near the Gull lake dam is most prolific in its yield and for two Sundays now volunteers of the Crow Wing Game, Fish & Bird Protective League have salvaged spawn, canned it and distributed it where needed in nearby lakes. Two shipments made ran 2,500 and 2,000.

The club ran short of cans for containers and upon request to Eben W. Cobb, superintendent of fisheries, the state game and fish commission has loaned the club a number of cans and two pairs of rubber boots.

Through D. A. Peterson the club thanked Mr. Cobb and expressed the hope that he might soon visit Brainerd and there see the work being done by the club in stocking up lakes.

PINE RIVER

Pine River, Minn., July 24—Seventy-six votes were cast at the school election. G. W. Bowman and N. D. Sherwood were re-elected.

Fire completely destroyed the Clover Lake store, owned by J. P. McLaughlin. Stock and building are a complete loss. Blind Lake township ship books kept in the store were destroyed.

The Manhattan Oil Co. has commenced business in Pine River. It will be managed by "Dutch" Rohrer, formerly with the Standard Oil company.

Surfacing of the new road from Pine River to Ponto lake, known as the Longville road, is under way.

The case of O. A. Anderson and Roy Peterson vs George Bell in the matter of the possession of the Norman building occupied by Bell as a restaurant, has been decided in favor of Bell, the decision reversing the findings of the justice court. Attorney Miller appeared for Bell.

Some real Scout hikers are Smith Burkhardt and Robert Shields, who loaded with 30 pound packs, hiked from Washington, Iowa, to Pine River.

WALKER

Walker, Minn., July 24—The grand opening at Glengary was a great success in spite of inclement weather. Senator P. H. McGarry was on hand to welcome each guest. The refreshments were good, the dance hall crowded and the bowling alley working over time. The movies in charge of Ivan Coppe, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, were very interesting and were shown repeatedly.

The Ladies Civic League held a special meeting Friday afternoon and were addressed by Mrs. Harvey K. Meyers. Her subject had to do with the lives and work of the Indians on the Leech Lake reserve.

B. E. Evans of Nevis suffered a fracture of the wrist while cranking his Ford.

Lyle Grey, an employe at the sawmill, injured his knee by falling on a splinter.

The route to the tourist campground is now well marked.

Miss Violet McPherson entertained a number of friends at a lawn party.

Harry Paddock and Odin Naustvold were re-elected to the school board.

ALL ABOUT MARY

Mary had a little watch,
She swallowed it one day,
And now she's eating Cascarets,
To pass the time away.

Her mother wondered what on earth,
Kept Mary ticking so,
But Mary didn't say a word,
But thought the watch was slow.

It went with her to school one day,
It had to—don't you know,
For Cascarets weren't strong enough,
To make that darn watch go.

So Mary gave up Cascarets,
They did not move the ticker,
A strong emetic, caused her to,
Cough up the watch right quicker.

When Mary found the time was up,
She felt so awfully good,
She turned a double summersault,
And on her head she stood.

While standing thus she gazed around,
And then she did discover,
A cozy home on a liberty lot,
Which NETTLETON had sold her lover.

This Mary yarn may not be true,
Yet there is something in it.
If you want to own a home,
See Nettleton and begin it.

MAIL BOX IS MOVED

West Box is Moved Farther West to the End of the Depot Platform Where Mail Car Stops

Postmaster H. P. Dunn has advised the Dispatch as follows:

"The mail box at the depot has been moved farther west to the end of the platform, bringing it opposite to where the mail car stops. All mail for north, west and the cities is placed in this box, collected and sorted on the arrival of the St. Paul train."

The move was made no doubt to make things more convenient for the railway mail clerk in picking up depot box mail.

ALSACE BEGINNING TO LIVE

Writer Finds a Feeling of Relief Pervading the People of the Province, With Reason.

It is a strange, yet stimulating experience for anyone who is interested in the relations between peoples to visit the much-contested strip of land known as Alsace. The last time I was in Alsace was more than twenty years ago. It was the day after Bismarck's death, and everywhere the black-white-red flags were hanging out at half-mast in honor of the man who had made the two provinces a Reichsland—part of the new German empire.

Today Bismarck's work is undone; gone, even from Germany itself, is the black-white-red flag; gone are the Prussian officers and officials, the red-hatted station masters, and all the other paraphernalia of imperial German routine. The older order survives but here and there, in the great official buildings erected and arranged on the grandiose German (or, as the Germans now call it, Wilhelmian) scale, in the familiar square blue German letter boxes, in the neat blue street signs which have been left standing with a neat new French sign affixed above or beneath. No doubt the minor officials have been but little changed. The village station master and the postman have but doffed their German insignia to don its more easy-fitting French equivalent. But if the men are the same, the faces, as well as the uniforms, are different. There is a feeling of relief, of détente, in the air. One has the sense of a people that has returned to the normal. At last, after a long ordeal, they can be themselves. They are free to settle down and to begin to live.—Alfred E. Zimmern in the Manchester Guardian.

GO HEAVY ON SOFT DRINKS

People of the United States Consume Annually a Vast Amount of Sweet Concoctions.

That more than $1,000,000,000 is annually spent in the United States for soft drinks is the conclusion reached by experts in the revenue bureau, who base the figures on the tax returns from the sale of 10,000,000,000 glasses a year at an average of ten cents a glass. This vast sum, according to a chemist in the health department, is paid for sodas and other drinks composed largely of coal tar products of practically no food value and masquerading under the protective cloak of "imitation" and "artificial," which exempts manufacturers from punishment under existing statutes.

Orangeade, if genuine, is glucose, sweetened water and oranges without any artificial coloring. The imitation orangeade, according to the chemists in the New York city department of health, is a combination of oil or orange coloring, sweetened with saccharine that comes in bottles. Saccharine is a coal tar product 500 times sweeter than sugar, and of no food value, which is considered injurious to health by medical authorities if taken in excess of four glasses a day.—P. Q. Fay in New York World.

As Bad as the Shower.

While visiting a friend who lived quite a distance from my home, a shower threatened, and I remarked: "I guess I'll go before I get wet." While passing a few more remarks I walked backward toward the door, but not noticing where I was going, I landed in a tub of water on the floor. The shower couldn't have gotten me any wetter!—Chicago Journal.

WATER MAIN IN DEPLORABLE SHAPE

Leak at Main and North Fourth Streets Shows Several Clamps Applied Do Not Hold

THE OLD PIPE IS WORN OUT
Water and Light Board Contemplates Putting in a Block of Brand New Water Main

The big water main leak at Main and North Fourth streets has demonstrated that there is a limit in repair work. In spite of the many clamps attached to the old water main there, a point has been reached when a clamp will not hold a rotten pipe.

The water and light board is contemplating putting in a block of new main and work is expected to commence on Monday when the water will be turned off three or four days and the district notified.

There will be a dry spell for this section of the city:

Main from Fourth to Bluff.

Third street from Main to Juniper.

Kingwood from Third to Bluff.

All of that section of the city popularly termed "Codeville".

Due notice will be given so that every householder will have the chance to accumulate in barrels and otherwise a water reserve.

NEW COAL BUNKERS

Turcotte Brothers Adding This Extra Storage Space to Their Fuel Supply Department

New coal bunkers being added by Turcotte Brothers will give this firm sufficient storage to carry 1,500 tons of coal. The new sheds will have cement foundations and a cement runway between sheds and track. The bunkers will be 100 feet in length and 15 feet wide.

An automatic unloading machine is new equipment to be added. The firm is so arranging its coal yard, etc., that every shipment will be handled with dispatch and orders will be quickly filled.

City Clerk.

House of Historic Interest.

One of the features of the terecentary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, to be held at Plymouth, will be the opening to the public of the William Harlowe house, built in 1677. This is one of the few buildings now remaining which stood within the lifetime of any of those who came on the Mayflower, and it has a particular interest owing to the fact that it was framed with oak timbers from the old fort, which, as Winslow relates, "was built in 1622 on the top of the hill under which the town was located."

After King Philip's war, when danger from Indian depredations had passed, the fort was dismantled and the timbers sold to Sergt. William Harlowe, a man of prominence in the colony, who used them in the construction of his house on the ancient highway where it still stands.

Newfoundland Well Watered.

One-third of the surface of Newfoundland is covered with lakes and rivers. The largest lake is Grand lake, 56 miles in length, five miles in breadth, with an area of 192 square miles. It contains an island 22 miles long. Its surface is only 500 feet above sea level.

TAKING SPAWN FROM GULL LAKE

Natural Fish Hatchery is Most Profitable in Its Yield, Spawn Widely Distributed

EXTRA CANS ARE RECEIVED
Rubber Boots Also Loaned Crow Wing Game, Fish & Bird Protective League by Game Commission

The Cardle natural fish hatchery near the Gull lake dam is most profitable in its yield and for two Sundays now volunteers of the Crow Wing Game, Fish & Bird Protective League have salvaged spawn, canned it and distributed it where needed in nearby lakes. Two shipments made ran 2,500 and 2,000.

The club ran short of cans for containers and upon request to Eben W. Cobb, superintendent of fisheries, the state game and fish commission has loaned the club a number of cans and two pairs of rubber boots.

Through D. A. Peterson the club thanked Mr. Cobb and expressed the hope that he might soon visit Brainerd and there see the work being done by the club in stocking up lakes.

PINE RIVER

Pine River, Minn., July 24—Seventy-six votes were cast at the school election. G. W. Bowman and N. D. Sherwood were re-elected.

Fire completely destroyed the Clover Lake store, owned by J. P. McLaughlin. Stock and building are a complete loss. Blind Lake township books kept in the store were destroyed.

The Manhattan Oil Co. has commenced business in Pine River. It will be managed by "Dutch" Rohz, formerly with the Standard Oil company.

Surfacing of the new road from Pine River to Ponto lake, known as the Longville road, is under way.

The case of O. A. Anderson and Roy Peterson vs George Bell in the matter of the possession of the Norman building occupied by Bell as a restaurant, has been decided in favor of Bell, the decision reversing the findings of the justice court. Attorney Miller appeared for Bell.

Some real Scout hikers are Smo Burkhardt and Robert Shields, who loaded with 30 pound packs, hiked from Washington, Iowa, to Pine River.

WALKER

Walker, Minn., July 24—The grand opening at Gleggary was a great success in spite of inclement weather. Senator P. H. McGarry was on hand to welcome each guest. The refreshments were good, the dance hall crowded and the bowling alley working over time. The movies in charge of Ivan Coppe, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, were very interesting and were shown repeatedly.

The Ladies Civic League held a special meeting Friday afternoon and were addressed by Mrs. Harvey K. Meyers. Her subject had to do with the lives and work of the Indians on the Leech Lake reserve.

B. E. Evans of Nevis suffered a fracture of the wrist while cranking his Ford.

Lyle Grey, an employe at the sawmill, injured his knee by falling on a splinter.

The route to the tourist camp ground is now well marked.

Miss Violet McPherson entertained a number of friends at a lawn party.

Harry Paddock and Odin Naustvold were re-elected to the school board.

ALL ABOUT MARY

Mary had a little watch,
She swallowed it one day,
And now she's eating Cascarets,
To pass the time away.

Her mother wondered what on earth,
Kept Mary ticking so,
But Mary didn't say a word,
But thought the watch was slow.

It went with her to school one day,
It had to—don't you know,
For Cascarets weren't strong enough,
To make that darn watch go.

So Mary gave up Cascarets,
They did not move the ticker,
A strong emetic, caused her to,
Cough up the watch right quicker.

When Mary found the time was up,
She felt so awfully good,
She turned a double summersault,
And on her head she stood.

While standing thus she gazed around,
And then she did discover,
A cozy home on a liberty lot,
Which NETTLETON had sold her lover.

This Mary yarn may not be true,
Yet there is something in it,
If you want to own a home,
See Nettleton and begin it.

MAIL BOX IS MOVED

West Box is Moved Farther West to the End of the Depot Platform Where Mail Car Stops

Postmaster H. P. Dunn has advised the Dispatch as follows:

"The mail box at the depot has been moved farther west to the end of the platform, bringing it opposite to where the mail car stops. All mail for north, west and the cities is placed in this box, collected and sorted on the arrival of the St. Paul train."

The move was made no doubt to make things more convenient for the railway mail clerk in picking up depot box mail.

ALSACE BEGINNING TO LIVE

Writer Finds a Feeling of Relief Pervading the People of the Province, With Reason.

It is a strange, yet stimulating experience for anyone who is interested in the relations between peoples to visit the much-contested strip of land known as Alsace. The last time I was in Alsace was more than twenty years ago. It was the day after Bismarck's death, and everywhere the black-white-red flags were hanging out at half-mast in honor of the man who had made the two provinces a Reichsland—part of the new German empire.

Today Bismarck's work is undone; gone, even from Germany itself, is the black-white-red flag; gone are the Prussian officers and officials, the red-hatted station masters, and all the other paraphernalia of Imperial German routine. The older order survives but here and there, in the great official buildings erected and arranged on the grandiose German (or, as the Germans now call it, Wilhelmian) scale, in the familiar square blue German letter boxes, in the neat blue street signs which have been left standing above or beneath. No doubt the minor officials have been but little changed.

The village station master and the postman have but doffed their German insignia to don its more easy-fitting French equivalent. But if the men are the same, the faces, as well as the uniforms, are different. There is a feeling of relief, of detente, in the air. One has the sense of a people that has returned to the normal. At last, after a long ordeal, they can be themselves. They are free to settle down and to begin to live.—Alfred E. Zimmerman in the Manchester Guardian.

GO HEAVY ON SOFT DRINKS

People of the United States Consume Annually a Vast Amount of Sweet Concoctions.

That more than $1,000,000,000 is annually spent in the United States for soft drinks is the conclusion reached by experts in the revenue bureau, who base the figures on the tax returns from the sale of 10,000,000,000 glasses a year at an average of ten cents a glass. This vast sum, according to a chemist in the health department, is paid for sodas and other drinks composed largely of coal tar products of practically no food value and masquerading under the protective cloak of "imitation" and "artificial," which exempts manufacturers from punishment under existing statutes.

Orangeade, if genuine, is glucose, sweetened water and oranges without any artificial coloring. The imitation orangeade, according to the chemists in the New York city department of health, is a combination of oil or orange coloring, sweetened with saccharine that comes in bottles. Saccharine is a coal tar product 500 times sweeter than sugar, and of no food value, which is considered injurious to health by medical authorities if taken in excess of four glasses a day.—F. Q. Fay in New York World.

As Bad as the Shower.

While visiting a friend who lived quite a distance from my home, a shower threatened, and I remarked: "I guess I'll go before I get wet." While passing a few more remarks I walked backward toward the door, but not noticing where I was going, I landed in a tub of water on the floor. The shower couldn't have gotten me any wetter!—Chicago Journal.

GIRL SCOUTS IN EDGEWOOD CAMP

GENERAL FRIES GIVES THEM A SITE WHERE PRESIDENT AND WIFE VISIT THEM.

DELIGHTFUL LIFE IN WOODS

Correspondent Tells of Taking the Girls Out for Purposes of Bird Study and Some of the Things They Saw.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—In the course of one of their week-end outings on the navy yacht Mayflower, the President and Mrs. Harding showed an active interest in the girl scout movement of America by a visit to one of the girls' summer camps on the headwaters of Chesapeake bay at the mouth of the Gunpowder river. Mrs. Harding is an official, or at any rate an honorary official of the girl scouts. Her interest in the work is keen and therefore, as is usually the case in American domestic life, the husband's interest is also keen.

On a Maryland peninsula, one side of which is washed by the Gunpowder river, the government maintains its great chemical warfare service plant. The place is known as Edgewood arsenal. The work is under the direction of Brig. Gen. Amos Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, whose headquarters are in Washington; while the First Gas regiment, stationed at Edgewood, is under the command of Maj. E. J. Attkisson, who was the colonel of the First Gas regiment in France when his present chief was head of the entire gas service in the A. E. F. Associated in war, the senior and subordinate are still associated in peace.

General Fries turned over to the girls scouts a fine camping site between the woods and the beach on the elevation of the peninsula close to the mouth of the Gunpowder river. Mrs. Fries is closely associated with the work of the girl scouts, and one of her daughters is a member of the present camping party.

Showing Them the Birds.

Washington has many girl scouts. The belief here is, as it seems to be elsewhere, that the movement is a helpful one in every respect for the girls of America. It does one good once in awhile to get away from the heat of political and legislative discussion in Washington to replace the oratory, or near oratory of congress with the songs of such birds as are still singing, and with the music of the forest's wind instruments.

To get right into the middle of things, I was asked to go to the camp of the Washington girl scouts to lead a class of them into the fields and woods for the purpose of bird study. I never had been near a girl scouts' camp before. I have seen one now at close range, and I know the interest the children take in woodcraft and in nature and the helpfulness which is inculcated, and I know the thing is good.

I took about a dozen of the girls on a tramp along the edges of the woods and along the country roads, bordered by the tangled thickets which buttressed the fences. Somebody must have been doing good nature work, either in the homes or the schools, for I found a basic knowledge of bird life already in the minds of these girl scouts. It never has hurt any child to be led into the field of appreciation of the appeal of nature. In the course of a tramp of an hour and a half we saw twenty-five species of American birds, some of them of appealing and curious interest.

The birds that we saw, and confession must be made that I did not expect to find them in Maryland at this season of the year, were two white-breasted nuthatches performing their gymnastic feats upon the trunk and larger branches of an oak. This bird was new to some of the girl scouts. They saw it go down the trunk of the tree head first; they saw it while in this dizzy position raise its head to look at them inquisitively with its sharp black eyes. No acrobat of the circus can do what this bird finds it easy to do.

Use Snake Skins in Nests.

One of the scouts had a cast-off snake skin which she had picked up. This gave an opportunity to say it was strange that the skin had been overlooked by the great crested fly-catchers which are not uncommon in Maryland and which ordinarily will not build a nest until they can find a cast-off snake skin to use as a part of the nest building material. When this fly catcher fails to find a snake skin it must content itself with some kind of substitute, but it searches for something that looks like a snake skin before it is happy. Why does the bird put a snake skin in its nest? If any scientist can answer he will go to the head of the class without challenge.

The scouts were particularly interested in the nests of the barn swallows. Why? Because the homes of these blue-backed, fork-tailed, sky-darting birds are wonderful contrivances of mud, softly lined with feathers and grasses, and plastered with the master adroitness of the mason on to the rafters of the barn. One of the girls discovered a nest which was as big as a quart cup. Seemingly it must have been a case of super imposing nest on nest as the summers came and went.

FOR WORLD CITY

Various Sites Proposed for Ambitious Project.

Idea, Put Forward by American, Is to Form International Clearing House of Information.

New Jersey, Hawaii, Cuba, the environs of Paris, the Riviera, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, and Greece have been proposed as sites for an international city, upon the plans of which Hendrik Anderson, an American, now residing in Rome, has been collaborating for the better part of the last 18 years. Such a city, according to Mr. Anderson's projects, would not be the adaptation to international purposes of a town already existing, but would be built new and so would contain only those edifices necessary for its aims and maintenance. There would be, among other buildings, an international court of justice, which Mr. Anderson willingly concedes would not do away with war, but would at least lessen the possibility of it, and which would be attended by permanent representatives from all nations. There would also be an international bank, an international medical congress, which would always be in session, and through which all new discoveries in medicine, hygiene and sanitation would at once be disseminated throughout the world; an international press building, and an international chamber of commerce and labor. Each government would likewise have its own building, which would offer to representatives of the other nations the opportunity of examining all the works of progress made by each country. The city would then be an international clearing house of information, and from its establishment, Mr. Anderson declares, only good results could accrue.

The plans of the city have been exhibited at the Smithsonian institute at Washington and extensive literature concerning its economic, political and structural possibilities has been sent to the presidents and sovereigns of practically all the countries in the world. The estimated cost of such a city is $500,000,000, but the net annual gain to each nation participating in its advantages and facilities would be $21,000,000, according to the calculations in the tracts which have been sent out.

Lectures will be made upon the project this summer in the United States, and the Sorbonne in Paris has offered a chair for three years for conferences on it. The plan has received the approbation of Pope Benedict XV, and both Belgium and Greece have offered land grants for the site of the proposed city.

Japanese Nuns.

Near Tokufuji, Japan, is Sennyuji, a group of buildings noted as the place of interment of several of the mikados during the Kamakura and Tokugawa periods, writes a correspondent. The graves are not shown; they are apparently very unpretending, quite unlike the gorgeous mausoleums of the Shogun dynasty, but the place is worth visiting. Near the gate, I passed a group of shaven-pated nuns, their denuded summits glistening in the sun—not walking with demurely downcast eyes telling their beads, but with jolly laughter telling each other some joke. Buddhist nunship appears to be little more than a cheerful relinquishment of domestic and economic anxieties; though one would think they must feel uncomfortably cool in the winter. The extensive grounds of Sennyuji are beautifully kept. There is a wide main walk lined with cypresses with sidepaths leading to various shrines; all are covered with granite sand; at the end is a similarly sanded courtyard about 150 feet square, with a screen running along one side; the roofs are loaded with cylindrical tiles stamped at the end with the 16-petaled chrysanthemum.

Wet Inside and Out.

The Marine was up for Office Hours. The Sergeant of the Guard has accused him of falling off the dock while in an intoxicated condition. The accused Marine stoutly maintained that he was strictly sober, and that the ducking he got was not the result of his own misconduct. His buddy was a reluctant witness.

The Commanding Officer addressed the witness: "It is reported by the Sergeant of the Guard that the accused Private Jones, was intoxicated at the time he fell off the dock, and that you assisted him ashore. Tell me, how did he appear to you when you pulled him out? If you had been ordered to give an opinion of him then, what would you have said?"

"Sir," answered his buddy, "I should have said that he was one of the wettest, if not the wettest, Marine I had ever seen."

Centennial of Photography.

The centenary of the discovery of photography was recently celebrated in the village of Bry-sur-Marne, near Paris, where Daguerre spent the last years of his life, and where in 1820 he carried on the experiments which resulted in the daguerreotype, from which modern photography, including the motion picture, has been developed.

Free to Brag of It.

Mr. Bucks—Yes, I've had a rather prosperous career. During the war I made my money out of lead. Mr. Fewrox—Gee! And got away with it! Most men get locked up for making lead dollars.

Yaquis or Sonora.

The Yaqui Indians, in Sonora, the trouble makers of northwestern Mexico for generations, belong to the same family as the Apaches, some writers say, while others assert they are really more Aztec than Indian.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Suphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down town druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

GIRL SCOUTS IN EDGEWOOD CAMP

GENERAL FRIES GIVES THEM A SITE WHERE PRESIDENT AND WIFE VISIT THEM.

DELIGHTFUL LIFE IN WOODS

Correspondent Tells of Taking the Girls Out for Purposes of Bird Study and Some of the Things They Saw.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—In the course of one of their week-end outings on the navy yacht Mayflower, the President and Mrs. Harding showed an active interest in the girl scout movement of America by a visit to one of the girls' summer camps on the headwaters of Chesapeake bay at the mouth of the Gunpowder river. Mrs. Harding is an official, or at any rate an honorary official, of the girl scouts. Her interest in the work is keen and therefore, as is usually the case in American domestic life, the husband's interest is also keen.

On a Maryland peninsula, one side of which is washed by the Gunpowder river, the government maintains its great chemical warfare service plant. The place is known as Edgewood arsenal. The work is under the direction of Brig. Gen. Anos Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, whose headquarters are in Washington; while the First Gas regiment, stationed at Edgewood, is under the command of Maj. E. J. Attkisson, who was the colonel of the First Gas regiment in France when his present chief was head of the entire gas service in the A. E. F. Associated in war, the senior and subordinate are still associated in peace.

General Fries turned over to the girls scouts a fine camping site between the woods and the beach on the elevation of the peninsula close to the mouth of the Gunpowder river. Mrs. Fries is closely associated with the work of the girl scouts, and one of her daughters is a member of the present camping party.

Showing Them the Birds.

Washington has many girl scouts. The belief here is, as it seems to be elsewhere, that the movement is a helpful one in every respect for the girls of America. It does one good once in awhile to get away from the heat of political and legislative discussion in Washington to replace the oratory, or near oratory of congress with the songs of such birds as are still singing, and with the music of the forest's wind instruments.

To get right into the middle of the things, I was asked to go to the camp of the Washington girl scouts to lead a class of them into the fields and woods for the purpose of bird study. I never had been near a girl scouts' camp before. I have seen one now at close range, and I know the interest the children take in woodcraft and in nature and the helpfulness which is inculcated, and I know the thing is good.

I took about a dozen of the girls on a tramp along the edges of the woods and along the country roads, bordered by the tangled thickets which buttressed the fences. Somebody must have been doing good nature work, either in the homes or the schools, for I found a basic knowledge of bird life already in the minds of these girl scouts. It never has hurt any child to be led into the field of appreciation of the appeal of nature. In the course of a tramp of an hour and a half we saw twenty-five species of American birds, some of them of appealing and curious interest.

The birds that we saw, and confession must be made that I did not expect to find them in Maryland at this season of the year, were two white-breasted nuthatches performing their gymnastic feats upon the trunk and larger branches of an oak. This bird was new to some of the girl scouts. They saw it go down the trunk of the tree head first; they saw it while in this dizzy position raise its head to look at them inquisitively with its sharp black eyes. No acrobat of the circus can do what this bird finds it easy to do.

Use Snake Skins in Nests.

One of the scouts had a cast-off snake skin which she had picked up. This gave an opportunity to say it was strange that the skin had been overlooked by the great crested fly-catchers which are not uncommon in Maryland and which ordinarily will not build a nest until they can find a cast-off snake skin to use as a part of the nest building material. When this fly catcher fails to find a snake skin it must content itself with some kind of substitute, but it searches for something that looks like a snake skin before it is happy. Why does the bird put a snake skin in its nest? If any scientist can answer he will go to the head of the class without challenge.

The scouts were particularly interested in the nests of the barn swallows. Why? Because the homes of these blue-backed, fork-tailed, sky-darting birds are wonderful contrivances of mud, softly lined with feathers and grasses, and plastered with the master adroitness of the mason on to the rafters of the barn. One of the girls discovered a nest which was as big as a quart cup. Seemingly it must have been a case of super imposing nest on nest as the summers came and went.

FOR WORLD CITY

Various Sites Proposed for Ambitious Project.

Idea, Put Forward by American, Is to Form International Clearing House of Information.

New Jersey, Hawaii, Cuba, the environs of Paris, the Riviera, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, and Greece have been proposed as sites for an international city, upon the plans of which Hendrik Anderson, an American, now residing in Rome, has been collaborating for the better part of the last 18 years. Such a city, according to Mr. Anderson's projects, would not be the adaptation to international purposes of a town already existing, but would be built new and so would contain only those edifices necessary for its aims and maintenance. There would be, among other buildings, an international court of justice, which Mr. Anderson willingly concedes would not do away with war, but would at least lessen the possibility of it, and which would be attended by permanent representatives from all nations. There would also be an international bank, an international medical congress, which would always be in session, and through which all new discoveries in medicine, hygiene and sanitation would at once be disseminated throughout the world; an international press building, and an international chamber of commerce and labor. Each government would likewise have its own building, which would offer to representatives of the other nations the opportunity of examining all the works of progress made by each country. The city would then be an international clearing house of information, and from its establishment, Mr. Anderson declares, only good results could accrue.

The plans of the city have been exhibited at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington and extensive literature concerning its economic, political and structural possibilities has been sent to the presidents and sovereigns of practically all the countries in the world. The estimated cost of such a city is $500,000,000, but the net annual gain to each nation participating in its advantages and facilities would be $21,000,000, according to the calculations in the tracts which have been sent out.

Lectures will be made upon the project this summer in the United States, and the Sorbonne in Paris has offered a chair for three years for conferences on it. The plan has received the approbation of Pope Benedict XV, and both Belgium and Greece have offered land grants for the site of the proposed city.

Japanese Nuns.

Near Tokufuji, Japan, is Sennyuji, a group of buildings noted as the place of interment of several of the mikados during the Kamakura and Tokugawa periods, writes a correspondent. The graves are not shown; they are apparently very unpretending, quite unlike the gorgeous mausoleums of the Shogun dynasty, but the place is worth visiting. Near the gate, I passed a group of shaven-pated nuns, their denuded summits glistening in the sun—not walking with demurely downcast eyes telling their beads, but with jolly laughter telling each other some joke. Buddhist nunship appears to be little more than a cheerful relinquishment of domestic and economic anxieties; though one would think they must feel uncomfortably cool in the winter. The extensive grounds of Sennyuji are beautifully kept. There is a wide main walk lined with cypresses with sidepaths leading to various shrines; all are covered with granite sand; at the end is a similarly sanded courtyard about 150 feet square, with a screen running along one side; the roofs are boarded with cylindrical tiles stamped at the end with the 16-petaled chrysanthemum.

Wet Inside and Out.

The Marine was up for Office Hours. The Sergeant of the Guard has accused him of falling off the dock while in an intoxicated condition. The accused Marine stoutly maintained that he was strictly sober, and that the ducking he got was not the result of his own misconduct. His buddy was a reluctant witness.

The Commanding Officer addressed the witness: "It is reported by the Sergeant of the Guard that the accused Private Jones, was intoxicated at the time he fell off the dock, and that you assisted him ashore. Tell me, how did he appear to you when you pulled him out? If you had been ordered to give an opinion of him then, what would you have said?"

"Sir," answered his buddy, "I should have said that he was one of the wettest, if not the wettest, Marine I had ever seen."

Centennial of Photography.

The centenary of the discovery of photography was recently celebrated in the village of Bry-sur-Marne, near Paris, where Daguerre spent the last years of his life, and where in 1820 he carried on the experiments which resulted in the daguerreotype, from which modern photography, including the motion picture, has been developed.

Free to Brag of It.

Mr. Bucks—Yes, I've had a rather prosperous career. During the war I made my money out of lead.

Mr. Fewrox—Gee! And got away with it! Most men get locked up for making lead dollars.

Yaquis or Sonora.

The Yaqui Indians, in Sonora, the trouble makers of northwestern Mexico for generations, belong to the same family as the Apaches, some writers say, while others assert they are really more Aztec than Indian.

Advertisers in the Daily Dispatch

Now get the same cut service as the big city dailies.

We have made arrangements with the Murray Illustrated Advertising Company of New York, for the furnishing of cuts for advertising purposes absolutely free to our patrons. This service is the best in America and has as clients some of the largest newspapers published.

Never before has it been possible for a paper to furnish this service without a considerable added outlay on the part of the advertiser, and even now it is only offered to the paper recognized by advertisers and readers as the leader in its section.

The Dispatch buys the cuts; the advertiser pays for the space in the paper at the same rate as for other advertising. Many of our patrons have already taken advantage of this offer and others are invited to do so.

We will be glad to explain the matter more fully
